Canvass Day 1

Overview of Canvass Process

Mr. Jones will now provide an overview of the canvass process.

One important update is that, to the extent practicable, local board staff will be following the State Board of Elections procedure for curing vote by mail ballots returned without a signed oath. More specifically:

When an envelope is received without the oath being signed, an attempt will be made to contact the voter by email, telephone, or mail, depending on what information is available in the voter record.

To cure their ballot, voters may go to the local board office and sign the oath by appointment only. Voters should call the office when they arrive to facilitate signing the oath. Alternatively, the local board can email the voter the oath. The voter will then be required to print and sign the oath, and return it either in person, by mail, or by email if the person scans or takes a picture of the oath.

All oaths must be signed and received by the local board not later than 10:00 a.m. on the 2nd Friday after Election Day or they will be rejected. Ballots that are returned without a signed oath will be canvassed on the final day of canvassing to allow time for the signed oath to be received.

Challenge a Ballot During Canvass

Mr. Jones explained how to Challenge a Ballot During Canvass. The Board will reconvene for the review of ballots every Tuesday and Thursday at 3:00 pm. The public may challenge a ballot during this time. They will need to announce the challenge using the Q&A option in the Microsoft Teams live-stream. They will need to complete the Challenge During Canvass Form This is a fillable form. They will need to ensure the form is signed. If it is not signed the challenge will not be accepted. They will need to email it as a PDF attachment to election.judge@baltimorecity.gov. Once the Challenge During Canvass Form is received, the Board will take action on that ballot.

The Board of Canvassers met on May 21, 2020 to open the vote by mail canvass and has met on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 3:00 p.m. as appropriate to decide on referred ballots. Some tasks traditionally performed by staff in ballot processing teams have been performed by one individual to comply with social distancing guidelines, while other tasks, such as ballot duplication, have continued to be performed in teams.

Any questions or challenges should be sent via the Q&A function within Microsoft Teams where you are viewing the canvass. Any challenges should also be made on the proper form and promptly emailed to election.judge@baltimorecity.gov. The form is available on the Baltimore City Board of Elections website. A picture of the completed form is acceptable. If the challenger does not provide the completed form within 1 hour, the Board of Canvassers will proceed as if there was no challenge. A challenge is waived if it is not made when the ballot is presented for acceptance or rejection.
